Re: Bollea v. Gawker Media LLC, et al.; Case No. 12-012447-CI-011

Dear Judge Campbell:

A.J. Daulerio has retained me through my law firm to represent him in certain matters that affect him or potentially affect him in the Bollea litigation.

Yesterday, Florida lawyer Andrew Greenlee moved the Florida 2d District Court of Appeals to allow me to appear on behalf of Mr. Daulerio before that court in Mr. Daulerio's pending appeal of an interlocutory order filed in this suit on August 17.

Despite being waylaid by the hurricane, Mr. Greenlee expects to file this afternoon a motion seeking your permission for me to appear before this Court in this suit on Mr. Daulerio's behalf. If allowed, I would appear as co-counsel for Mr. Daulerio, although on some issues, I might appear as his primary counsel.

I respectfully ask that the Court refrain from deciding Mr. Bollea's motion to enforce permanent injunction at least until after the Court considers Mr. Greenlee's forthcoming motion— and to give Mr. Daulerio an opportunity to respond in a formal memorandum to be filed on the record by Thursday, October 13.

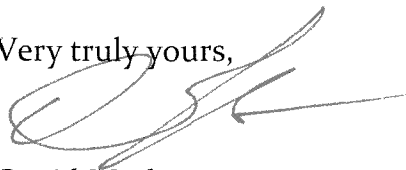

In the meantime, I can assure the Court that no emergency exists. Mr. Daulerio will not post any copy of the Bollea video anywhere, and I can assure the Court that Mr. Daulerio is not emotionally "desperate."

Thank you for your consideration.

I am emailing a copy of this to counsel for Mr. Bollea and the other counsel for the defendants.

Very truly yours,
