NEW YORK

The big news for Katie Couric is a new baby.

The "Today" co-host gave birth Friday to her second daughter. The 7-pound, 10-ounce girl, named Caroline Couric Monahan, was delivered by Caesarean section at an unidentified hospital. She will be called Carrie.

Couric and her husband, lawyer Jay Monahan, have a 4-year-old daughter, Ellie.

Couric, who went on maternity leave in December, will return to "Today" in March.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) Pro wrestler Hulk Hogan says a woman is trying to put the squeeze on him by claiming he sexually assaulted her.

Hogan sued Kate Kennedy in federal court Thursday, claiming she and her lawyer threatened to file charges unless Hogan paid her off.

Kennedy's attorney, Peter Johnson, said she was the victim of a "very serious sexual assault" over Labor Day weekend, when she was involved in a promotional event featuring Hogan. He gave no details of the attack.

Johnson said Kennedy contacted Hogan and "attempted to settle it quietly" but didn't ask for money.

Hogan's lawyer, Geoffrey Jarpe, said his client denies breaking the law.

Hogan's publicist said Kennedy wrote to Hogan, threatening to file charges "with attendant publicity" unless he gave her money.

NEW YORK (AP) Her marriage to Richard Gere fell apart, and now another serious relationship has ended for Cindy Crawford: The supermodel has split with the agency that has represented her for more than 12 years.

John Casablancas, owner of Elite Model Management Corp., said Friday that the supermodel and his agency "have ceased their collaboration."

Casablancas said Crawford no longer wanted to pay the agency its customary commission. Most agencies charge 10 percent to 15 percent.

Crawford is the highest paid model in the world, earning $6.5 million in 1995, according to Forbes magazine.

The Daily News reported Friday that Crawford wants her agent, Michael Gruber, to handle all her deals. A call to his Los Angeles office was not immediately returned.

HOUSTON (AP) Playboy model Anna Nicole Smith is getting support from one of her stepsons as she fights the other over her late husband's estate.

At issue is the $1.5 billion estate of oil baron J. Howard Marshall II, who died Aug. 4 at age 90.

In court papers, J. Howard Marshall III says his brother, Pierce, seized control of their father's estate by taking advantage of a decrepit old man.

He wants the estate split equally among himself, his brother and Ms. Smith, his lawyer said.

Ms. Smith, 27, has been battling Pierce Marshall as well, claiming he manipulated his ailing father to exclude her from inheriting any money.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) Candidates, start your engines! Richard Petty is revving up for his first statewide race.

The king of stock car racing has invited supporters to his museum in Level Cross for a fund-raiser to kick off his campaign for secretary of state. The Jan. 25 event costs $75 per person or $125 per couple.

The back of the invitation has a box for Petty's autograph and another one for a photo with Petty to be taken that night.

Petty, a Republican, served 16 years as a Randolph County commissioner.

No other Republicans have said they're running for the office in next fall's election. One Democrat has announced.
