Terry Gene Bollea, professionally known as "Hulk Hogan," has settled his claims against Bubba the Love Sponge Clem aka Todd Alan Clem. The terms of the settlement are confidential. Following the settlement, Mr. Clem issued a public apology to Mr. Bollea which includes the following statements:

"...I am now convinced that Hulk Hogan was unaware of the presence of the recording device in my bedroom."

"I am convinced [Hulk Hogan] had no knowledge that he was being taped."

"I am certain that Hulk had no role in the release of the video."

"It is my belief that Hulk is not involved, and has not ever been involved, in trying to release the video, or exploit it, or otherwise gain from the video's release in any way."

"The things that I said about Hulk and his children were not true. I was wrong and I am deeply sorry for my reaction, and for the additional pain that it caused Hulk and his children on top of the pain that they already were feeling from having learned that Hulk was taped without his knowledge, and the public release of the video."

Attached is a copy of Mr. Clem's written apology. He also read this statement of apology during his morning radio broadcast at 7:00 a.m. and 8:00 a.m. this morning and will again at 7:00 a.m. and 8:00 a.m. tomorrow, Tuesday, October 30, 2012.

"Mr. Bollea is pleased that Mr. Clem finally stated the truth and apologized for his false statements," said Mr. Bollea's personal litigation attorney, David R. Houston of Reno, Nevada.

Hulk Hogan's $100 million lawsuit against Gawker Media in the U.S. District Court remains pending and no aspect of that lawsuit has been resolved or settled. Hulk Hogan's Motion for Preliminary Injunction is pending and will be heard by the Court shortly.

Hulk Hogan's claims against Heather Clem in Florida state court also remain pending.

Both lawsuits seek damages for invasion of privacy and related claims in connection with the secret taping of Mr. Hogan in a private bedroom engaged in private, consensual intimate relations, and the unauthorized publication of that tape.
